Graduate Program of Study Suggestions: General Music Track

What follows are possible designs for your program of study. These are only options to complete following a three-year model. While each model assumes that you are starting in the summer, it is possible to start the program during the fall and spring as well. You should take 562 Introduction to Graduate Study in your first semester of study.

Candidates may only complete 12 credits during the summer session. 10 credits provides a much easier pace and will be used as the model below. This model assumes that the candidate is taking coursework throughout the academic year online. Please refer to the document titled, MMed Program Planning and Tracking Sheet, for a complete list of courses.

NOTE: For General Music Track Candidates, residency summers must be taken consecutively as courses alternate by summer.
